- There is an ongoing dialogue within the Community (one which will be addressed in the follow-up report to the CIPC study) as to just what emphasis should be given by analytic/production assets to the narcotics question. The NIO/Narcotics is convinced that the Community (specifically the DDI/OGI, and DDO) should be spending more time on intelligence on trafficking networks. To this end, the DDI/OGI has set up a task force in coordination with the DEA to develop a cohesive analytic approach to narcotics trafficking networks.
- On 18 April, George attended the monthly NIO Warning Meeting on Narcotics. Charlie Allen vigorously endorsed the follow-up report and hoped that it would serve as an opportunity for the Community to broach new avenues and options for narcotics intelligence.

- The briefing will be given to OGI/DDI this coming Friday and George plans to attend, as he anticipates a spirited discussion.

- George has been advised that the Follow-Up Narcotics Report will probably be the primary agenda item for the next CIPC Meeting, and that a maximum effort should be directed toward the timely completion of this report.

CBW Intelligence Subcommittee: [REDACTED]

25X1

- Most members of the CIPC CBW Intelligence Subcommittee have coordinated on the revised version of the subcommittee's findings. Additionally, the NIO at Large and the Assistant NIO at Large for CBW have provided comments, all of which are acceptable. Most of the comments dealt with portraying how CBW intelligence is now being coordinated. As to the recommendation on establishing a mechanism under the NIO's auspices, neither [REDACTED] nor [REDACTED] had any objections. Overall they were complementary of the findings.

- Of those agencies that have not responded (the services and NSA), all are expected to phone in comments by Wednesday, 24 April. The reason for some of the delay was due to the mail, e.g., Air Force did not receive their copy of the revised report until 18 April, a week after it left this office. In any event, by the latter part of this week the final coordinated draft should be available for review by the CIPC staff.
